

University of Bern/Switzerland at AUA

Constitutional and Administrative Law are the core pieces of a rule of law system. The building blocks of a rule of law society, mechanisms to ensure judicial independence, and the international dimension of constitutional protections for human rights are some of the topics being discussed during a 3 part Constitutional Law Seminar now taking place at AUA. The program is designed and implemented by the Institute for Public Law of the University of Bern/Switzerland and is hosted by AUA Law. Approximately 86 Armenian attorneys, professors and graduate law students from a number of governmental, educational and civil society institutions are currently enrolled in the seminar which will finish on Saturday. The law professors from Bern are excited to be in Armenia and have been very well received by seminar participants.
